C. EDGAR NORRIS

CITY CLERK

FOREWORD

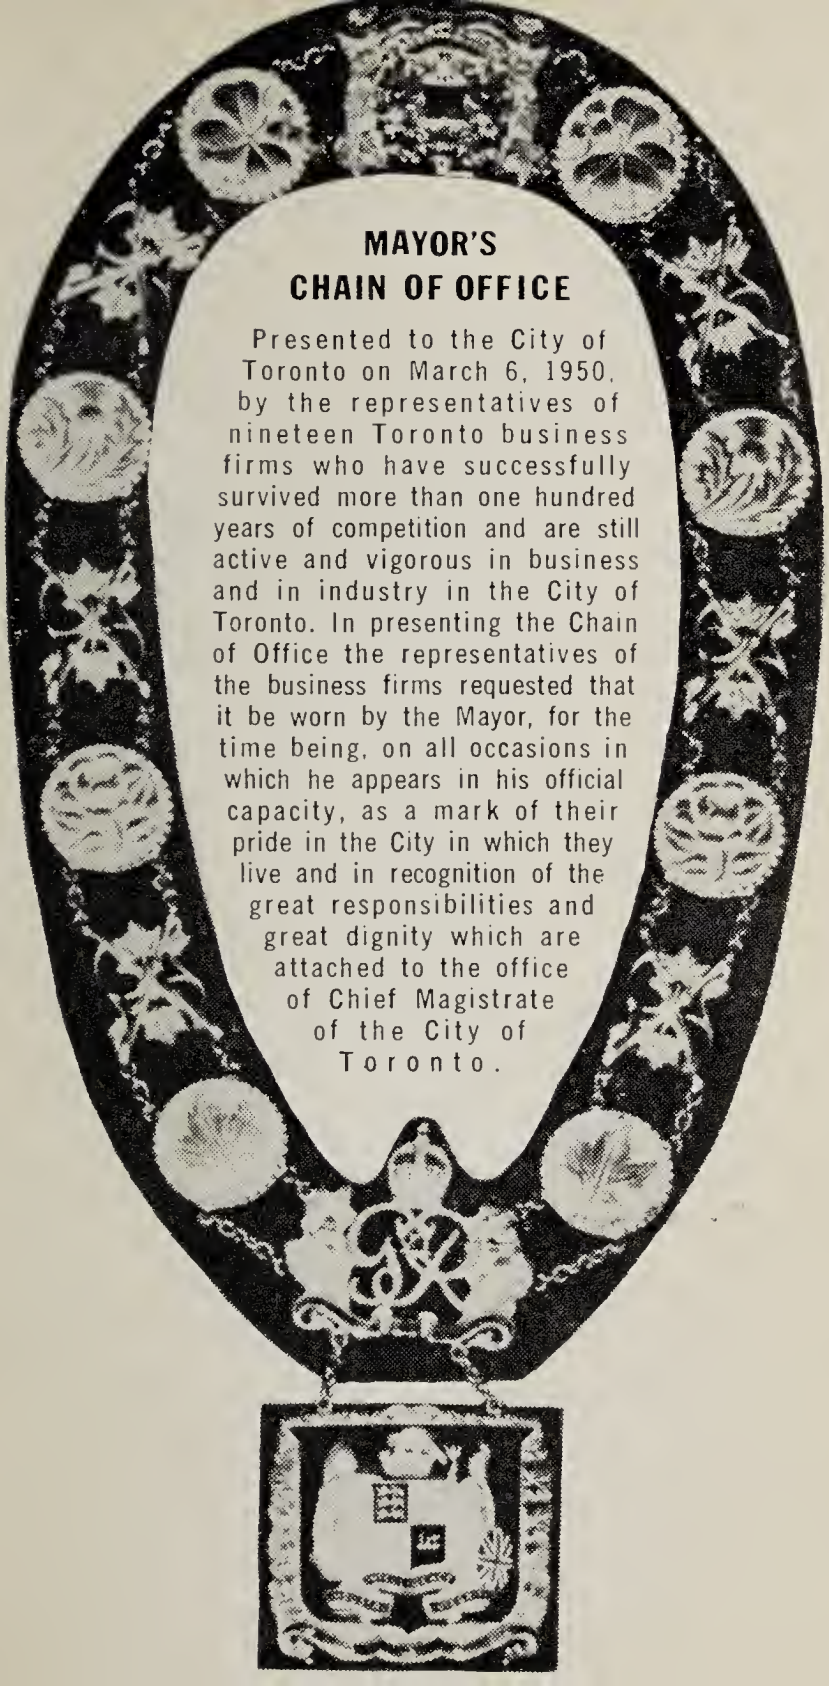
This Municipal Handbook is compiled under the direction of the Council of the Corporation of the City of Toronto to furnish the citizens of Toronto, and others, with official information relative to the administration of the City. It is presented in the hope that its perusal may stimulate and encourage the citizens generally to take a greater interest in the communal life of their City and in good municipal government, which, in the last analysis, is the basis of sound democratic government.

For the convenience of readers a municipal directory containing the names of members of Council, committees, board and commissions, heads of departments, Metropolitan Council and committees, etc., has been included on blue paper at the back of the handbook.

A compilation of statistics on Toronto has been included on green pages. Information pertaining to the Municipality of Metropolitan Toronto may be found on pages 80-87 and 161-167.

C. EDGAR NORRIS,
City Clerk.

Toronto, 1968.



MAYOR'S CHAIN OF OFFICE

Presented to the City of Toronto on March 6, 1950, by the representatives of nineteen Toronto business firms who have successfully survived more than one hundred years of competition and are still active and vigorous in business and in industry in the City of Toronto. In presenting the Chain of Office the representatives of the business firms requested that it be worn by the Mayor, for the time being, on all occasions in which he appears in his official capacity, as a mark of their pride in the City in which they live and in recognition of the great responsibilities and great dignity which are attached to the office of Chief Magistrate of the City of Toronto.

MAYOR OF TORONTO
WILLIAM DENNISON

Mayor William Dennison was born in Renfrew County, January 20th, 1905, and received his education at Renfrew Collegiate and the Bassett School of Speech Correction, New York, N.Y.

He then founded the Dennison School of Speech Correction in Toronto in 1930 and is the author of a number of pamphlets and articles on speech therapy.

Mayor Dennison entered public life in 1938 when he was elected a School Trustee in Ward 2 and served in that capacity until 1940; elected a Member of the Ontario Legislature for St. David Riding 1943-45 and 1948-52; was defeated in 1952 and returned as Alderman in 1953 and has served on Council since that time. In 1959 he became a Controller to serve for eight years and, in 1966, was elected Mayor.

During his political career he has served and is now serving on many boards and committees including, Metropolitan Council and Executive Committee, and Metropolitan Parks and Recreation Committee; Toronto Hydro-Electric Commission; Canadian National Exhibition; Toronto Historical Board; Metropolitan Toronto and Region Conservation Authority, and Standing Committees of the City of Toronto and Metropolitan Toronto Councils. As Mayor of the City he is ex officio on the Board of Governors of Mount Sinai Hospital, City of Toronto Planning Board, and many charitable institutions.

Married to the former Dorothy Bainbridge in 1931 they have one married daughter, Mrs. Ross Milne of Brampton, who is a school trustee on the Brampton Board of Education.

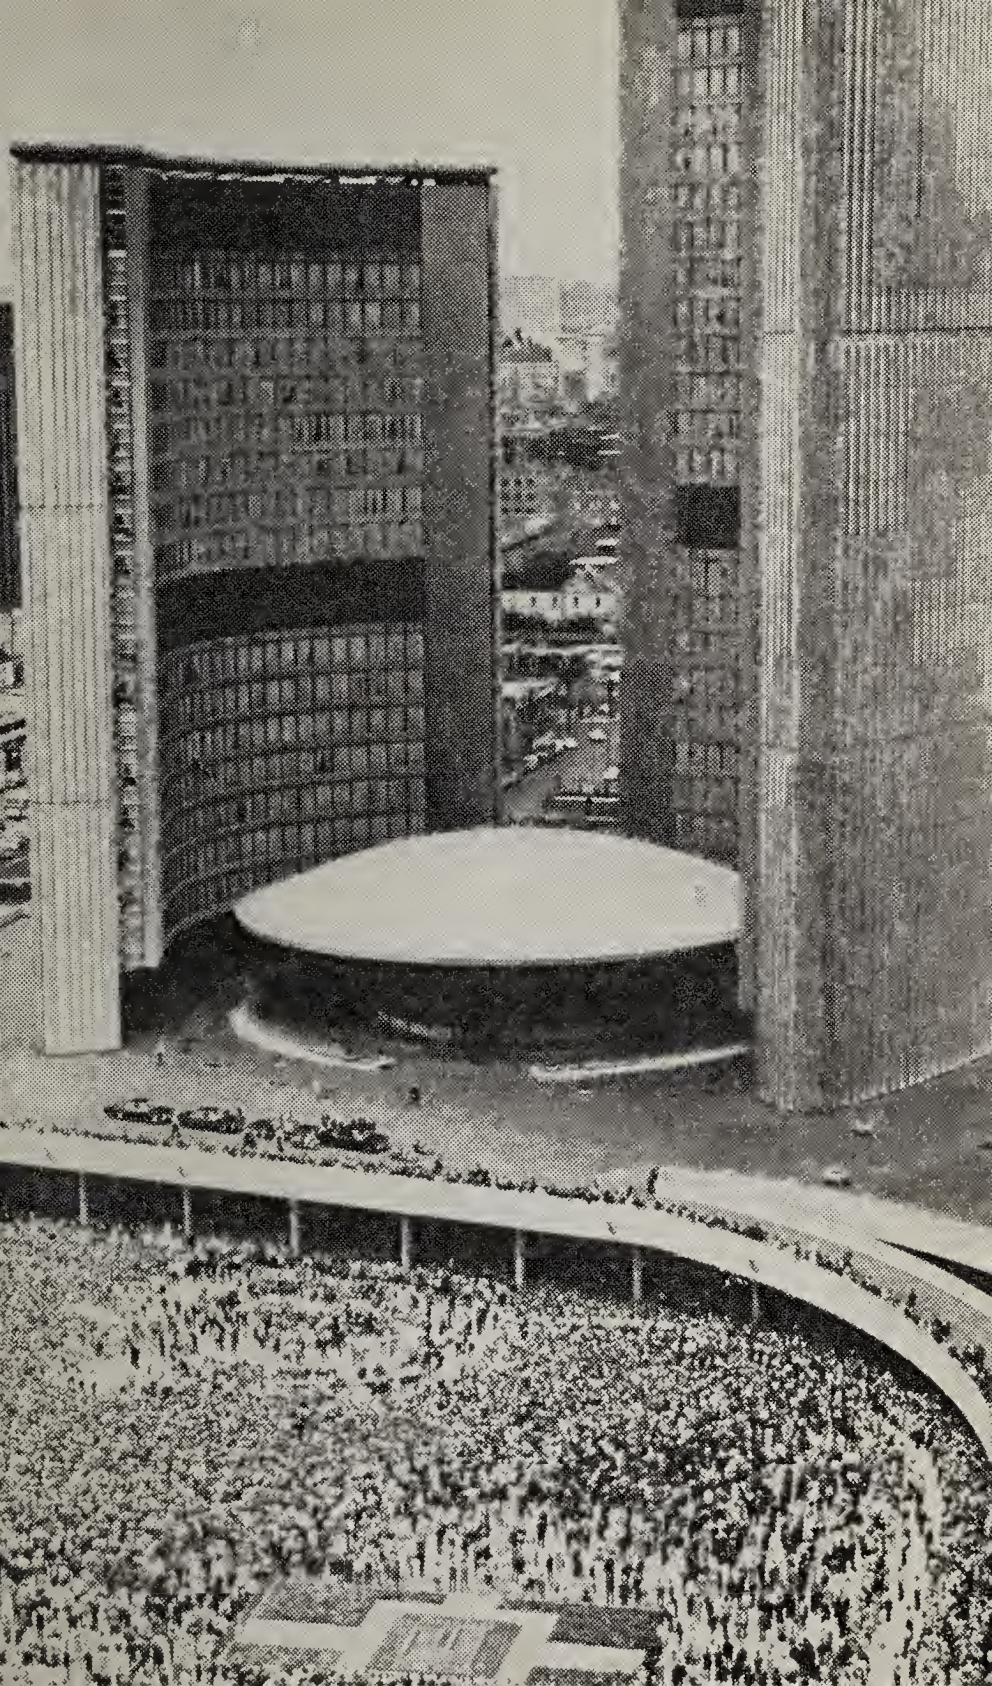
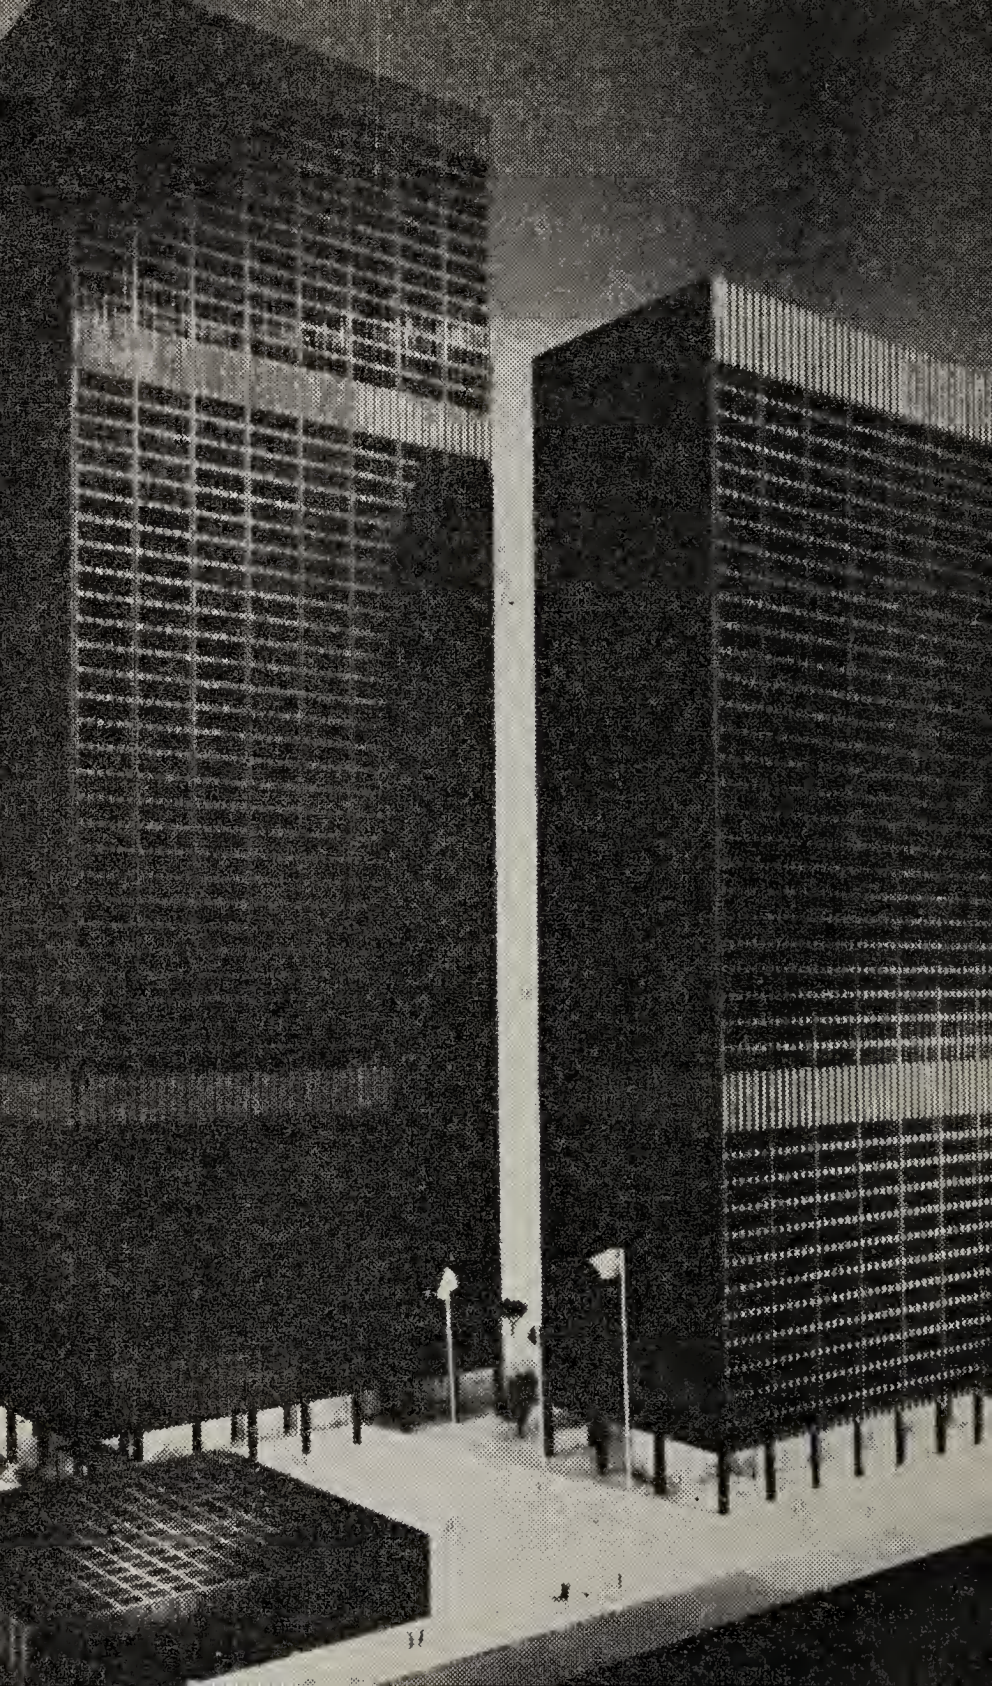
TORONTO'S CITY HALL AND SQUARE

This significant and stimulating development was a bold departure for Toronto, a City where conformity to architectural precedent had threatened to become the test of excellence. Viljo Revell, an innovating architectural genius, did not live to see his greatest work completed, but left Toronto a lasting legacy of profound importance in the City's history, which has already proved a catalyst in spurring needed redevelopment.

From the rear, each of the two massive, marble-veneered towers present one visible bounding line from top to bottom and rise like a grand swell from the ground in an accumulating impression of vastness and strength. From the front, with their appearance of surprising slenderness and energy the towers convey an impression that is refined, spirited and interesting in the highest degree, while at the same time bearing out the dominating idea of strength with repose in their protective positioning beside the low-lying cupola of the Council Chamber.

Spread out before the building is the great 11½ acre Nathan Phillips Square. Alive with pedestrian traffic, skaters on the frozen surface of its reflecting pool, summer visitors lolling on its grass beneath formal shade trees close by the cooling fountains of the pool, the Square with concerts, political and other rallies and civic functions now displays to the world the new spirit of a revitalized Toronto.





TORONTO DOMINION CENTRE

No stay in Toronto is complete without a visit to the Toronto-Dominion Centre, a striking urban redevelopment that is among the largest anywhere. The Centre now includes the 56-storey Toronto Dominion Bank Tower, at 740 feet the tallest building in the Commonwealth, and its extensive Concourse with shops for every taste and purse, four restaurants and a motion picture theatre. A fifth restaurant is on the 54th floor.

Opening May 1968 is a great single-level Banking Pavilion housed in one of the largest column-free areas in Canada, as well as a spacious landscaped plaza.

By mid-1969 the Centre complex will be complete with a companion tower building of 46 storeys.

This magnificent development, sponsored by The Toronto-Dominion Bank and Cemp Investments Ltd., a Canadian investment company, has revitalized the core of Toronto's financial and business district, at King and Bay Sts.

ST. LAWRENCE HALL

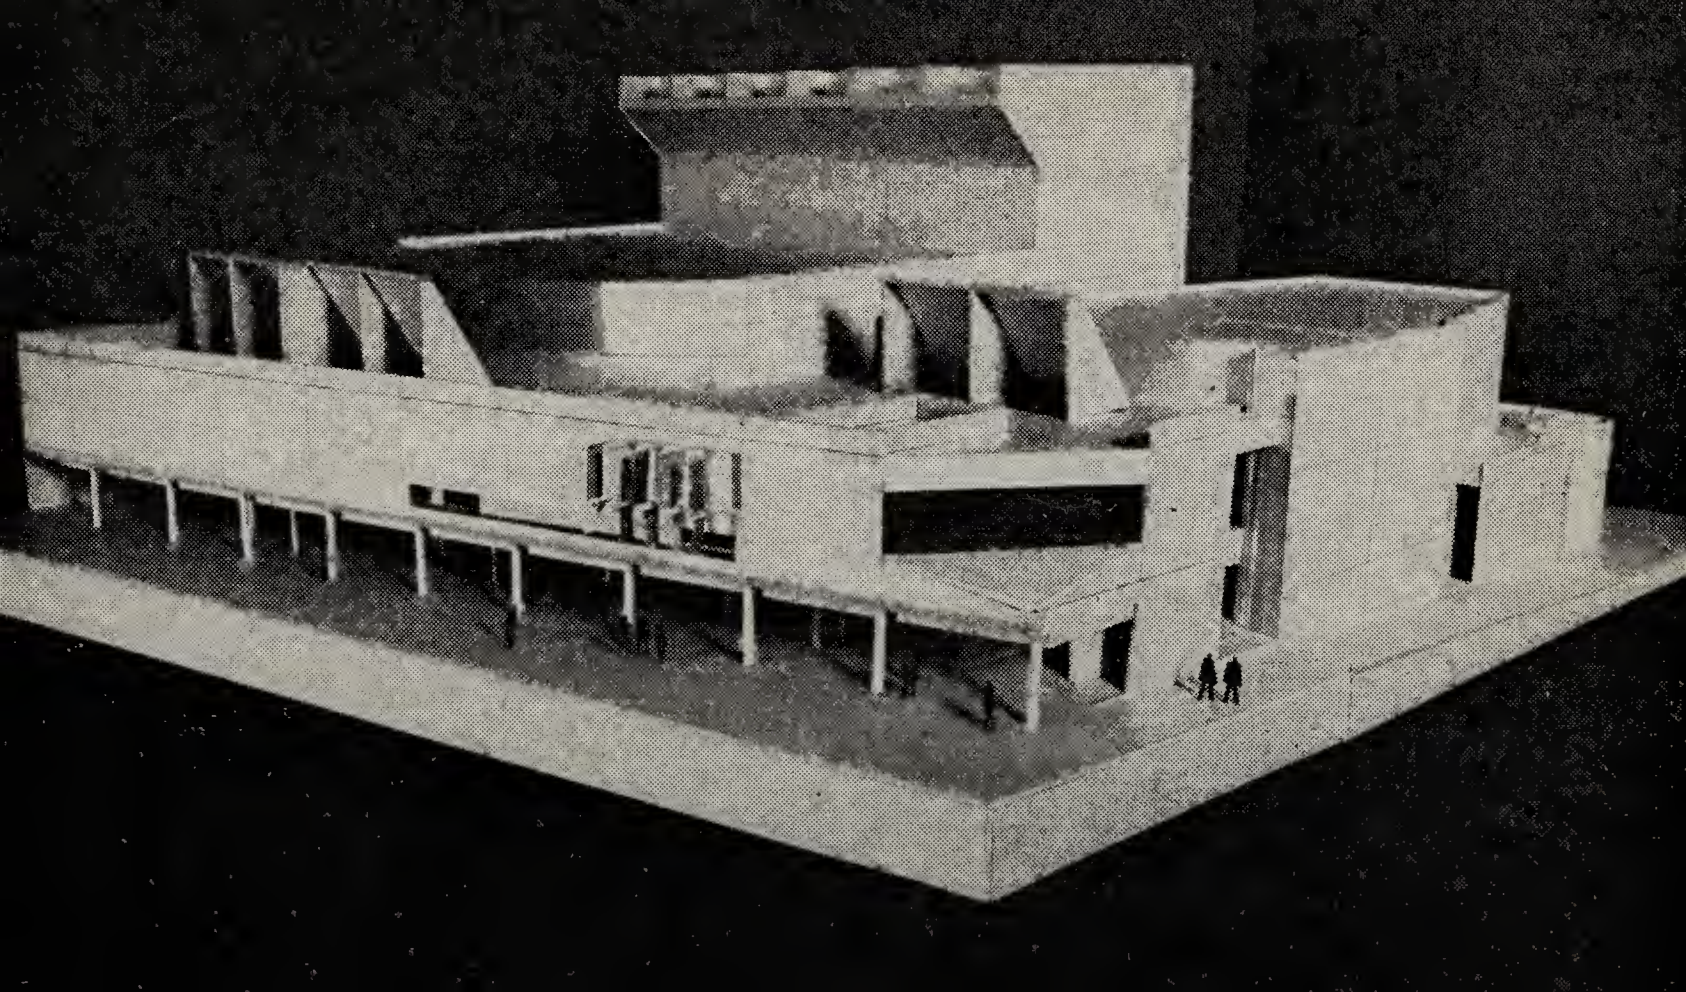
The great fire of 1849 covered an area bounded by Church, George, Adelaide, and King Streets. Out of this scene of devastation, there emerged two of our finest buildings: St. James' Cathedral of 1853 and St. Lawrence Hall of 1850. The Hall itself, the imposing classical building which faces King Street, was designed by a very distinguished architect, Mr. William Thomas. Externally, St. Lawrence Hall consists of a principal facade in dressed stone with a Corinthian order supporting, at the centre, a pediment and attic storey. The whole composition is crowned by a cupola which boasts a clock at each of the four cardinal points. The stone carving on the building is worth examining. Apart from the Corinthian capitals and the coat of arms in the pediment, there are well-executed brackets and swags, and sculpture, symbolic of the arts to which the building was dedicated. Cast iron balconies were once common in Toronto, but the one on the Hall at the second floor, is not only one of the few that are left, but is an excellent example of its kind.

Now fully restored and declared a historic site, St. Lawrence Hall again enjoys tremendous popularity and use. His Excellency the Governor General declared the Hall open on December 28, 1967. This ceremony finalized tremendous activity, co-operation and determination by City Council, the Toronto Construction Association members, Toronto Chapter, Ontario Association of Architects and many private donors.

METROPOLITAN COURT HOUSE

On the site of the old University Armouries the new Metropolitan Court House enjoys a setting which, enhanced by pools, fountains, lindens, evergreens and flowering trees, is unsurpassed on University Avenue. Architects, Marani, Rounthwaite and Dick created a building which integrates with, and adds to the charm of the old Osgoode Hall to the south and the verve and vigour of the contemporary City Hall to the east.

Providing the most modern in court, consulting, witness and jury rooms, prisoners' accommodation, facilities for court reporters and a law library which houses 18,000 books, this building conveys the dignity of the honoured calling practised within its walls. The design, entirely executed in warm limestone from Queenston, features strongly articulated vertical lines. These lines created by deep and narrow fins, give the semblance of great height to the seven storey building, a truly imposing buttress to the Civic Square complex.



MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT AND ELECTIONS

The Government of the City of Toronto is vested in a Municipal Council under the provisions of The Municipal Act passed by the Government of the Province of Ontario.

The Council is composed of the Mayor and four members of the Board of Control, elected by the voters at large, and eighteen Aldermen, elected from the nine wards into which the City is divided, two from each ward, making a total membership of 23.

The Municipality of Metropolitan Toronto Act as amended provides that in the City of Toronto and the five boroughs of Metropolitan Toronto, meetings of electors for the nomination of candidates for council and for any local board, any members of which are to be elected by ballot by the electors, shall be held on the second Monday preceding the first Monday in December, that election day shall be the first Monday in December and the polls shall be open between 10.00 o'clock a.m. and 8.00 o'clock p.m. However, the Act also provides that the Metropolitan Council may by by-law passed at least sixty days before the day of nomination change the time for opening and closing the polls so that they will remain open for not less than eight consecutive hours between 8 o'clock in the morning and 9 o'clock in the evening, and any such by-law remains in force from year to year until repealed.

← St. Lawrence Centre For The Arts
(Construction Commenced 1968)

The Act also provides that before the first day of November during the year in which the election is to be held that a by-law shall be passed by the Council of each area municipality naming the place or places and time or times at which the nomination meeting or meetings shall be held and that the members of council and of such local boards shall hold office for a three-year term and until their successors are elected and the new council or board is organized.

The Council, as a whole, is the legislative body of the Municipality and carries on its work through the Board of Control and the following Standing Committees, viz.: Committee on Public Works, Committee on Buildings and Development, Committee on Parks and Recreation, and Committee on Housing, Fire and Legislation.

The Board of Control is the executive body of Council and, as such, is responsible for the preparation of the annual estimates, the regulation and supervision of all matters relating to finances and expenditures, the consideration and revision of all by-laws and agreements that may be authorized by the Council; the supervision and control of all books, documents, vouchers and securities belonging to the Corporation; the renting or leasing of any property belonging to the Corporation; the preparation of specifications, calling for tenders and the awarding of all contracts for works, materials and supplies required by the Corporation; the nomination to Council of heads of departments in case of a vacancy; the carrying on of public works authorized by Council and the general administration of the affairs of the City, except as to the Department of Education which is under the Control of the Board of Education elected by the voters every three years (similar to Council, two members elected from each of the nine wards in the City).

The Council, without a two-thirds vote, cannot reverse or vary the action of the Board of Control in respect to tenders, when the effect of such vote would be to increase the cost of the work, or to award the contract to a tenderer other than the one to whom the Board has awarded it. The Municipal Act also provides that the Council shall not appropriate or expend any sum not provided for in the Estimates, or a supplementary Estimate approved and certified by the Board of Control without a two-thirds vote of Council. The Board of Control is vested with power to dismiss or suspend any Head of Department and forthwith report same to Council, and such official cannot be re-appointed or re-instated, without a two-thirds vote of Council. The Heads of Departments, under the provision of a by-law, have full power to dismiss, suspend or demote any subordinate officer, clerk or employee.

All reports of Committees are submitted first to the Board of Control, and then transmitted by that body to the City Council together with recommendations regarding any amendments as the Board may deem advisable.

The Local Board of Health is a statutory body deriving its authority under the provisions of The Public Health Act. A by-law passed under authority contained in the City of Toronto Act 1963 provides that the Local Board of Health of the City of Toronto shall consist of the Mayor, the Medical Officer of Health and five persons having the qualifications for election to City Council, at least two of whom shall not be members of the Council.

Information Relating To Municipal Elections

VOTERS' LIST

The names of persons entitled to vote at Municipal Elections are entered on either the Municipal Voters' List compiled in accordance with the Voters' List Act, or on the Resident Voters' List prepared according to The Municipal Franchise Extension Act.

Every person shall be entitled to be entered on the Municipal Voters' List who is,

(a) of the full age of 21 years;

(b) a British Subject by birth or naturalization;

(c) not disqualified under The Municipal Act or otherwise by law prohibited from voting, and

(d) rated or entitled to be rated for an amount of $400 on the last revised Assessment Roll of the City of Toronto, for land held in his or her own right as owner or tenant or who is the wife or husband of the person so rated or entitled to be rated for land as owner or tenant.

(To be rated as a tenant of a domestic establishment it is necessary to occupy two or more rooms in which the occupants usually sleep and prepare and serve meals.)

Every person shall be entitled to be entered on the Resident Voters' List who,

(a) is of the full age of 21 years on or before the 1st day of October in the year in which the Resident Voters' List is prepared;

(b) is a British Subject by birth or naturalization;

(c) has resided in the municipality for the last twelve months next preceding the 1st day of January of the year in which the Resident Voters' List is to be prepared;

(d) is not entitled to be entered on the Voters' List prepared under The Voters' Lists Act, and

(e) is not disqualified under any Act or otherwise prohibited by law from voting.

(Persons entered on the Resident Voters' List are not entitled to vote for the Trustees to be elected to the School Boards.)

The City Clerk, pursuant to The Voters' Lists Act, causes to be inserted, once a week for three weeks in such daily newspapers published in the City as may be directed by the Judge, notice calling upon persons who are aware of errors or omissions in the Lists, or of any change by reasons of death or removal of any person named therein, or of any person who has acquired the necessary qualifications as a voter since the return of final revision of the Assessment Roll for any Ward, to give notice of the same. The notice in the newspapers names a time and place at which the Judge will hold a Court for revising the Lists for the whole city.

The notice given in the newspapers about the first of October in each year, as to the posting of the Voters' Lists by the City Clerk, is the citizen's last and final opportunity to have his name added to the Voters' List. Fourteen days are allowed in which to examine the Lists and, if the same are not correct, to enter an appeal to have same corrected in accordance with the facts. It is the paramount duty of citizens to see that their name is included in the Voters' List, and also to exercise their municipal franchise on Election Day, as a means of furthering the good government of their particular municipality.

VOTING ON QUESTIONS AND BY-LAWS

The persons qualified to vote on a money by-law shall be those persons shown on the Voters' List as (1) owners; (2) tenants whose lease extends for the time for which the debt is to be created or in which the money to be raised by the proposed by-law is payable, or for at least twenty-one years, and who have by the lease covenanted to pay all municipal taxes in respect of the property, other than local improvement rates, provided they make and file with the City Clerk not later than the tenth day before the day appointed for taking the vote, a declaration under the Canada Evidence Act, so stating; (3) the nominee of a corporation assessed upon the last revised roll as owner or lessee of property provided the said corporation, not later than the tenth day before the time appointed for taking the vote, files with the Clerk an appointment in writing of a person to vote as its nominee and on its behalf.

In a city divided into wards, a voter shall be entitled to vote on a money by-law in each ward in which he has the prescribed qualification.

(1) Every person shall be qualified to be elected a member of the council of a local municipality, who—

for the City of Toronto or who is the husband or wife of a person assessed as actual owner or tenant of lands in the said City for an amount sufficient to entitle him or her to vote at municipal elections who is a Canadian Citizen and who resides in the municipality or within five miles of its boundaries and who is of the full age of twenty-one years and not disqualified may be elected a trustee of the Board of Education.

The Public Schools Act provides that for every ward into which an urban municipality is divided there shall be two trustees.

Election of Trustees Board Of Education

Every person named in the last revised voters' list as being entitled to vote at municipal elections shall be entitled to vote at the election for trustees, Board of Education for the City of Toronto, excepting persons who are assessed as supporters of separate schools and persons who are entered on such voters' list by reason of being the wife or husband of a person assessed as a supporter of separate schools.

In Toronto, the several meetings for the nomination of candidates for trustees, Board of Education, are held in each of the nine respective wards in the City at the same time and place as the meeting for the nomination of municipal candidates for the office of Alderman, and the elections are conducted in the same manner and at the same time as municipal elections.

BY-LAW REGULATING STANDARDS OF HOUSING

The City has had a by-law regulating standards of housing since 1936. Legislation enacted in 1967 enabled the City to adopt more comprehensive regulations providing for standards of repair and maintenance of dwellings and to prevent over-crowding of dwellings.

Under these regulations it is provided that following an inspection, an order may be issued to require the taking of the necessary action to bring any dwelling used for the purpose of human habitation to meet the standards provided by the by-law.

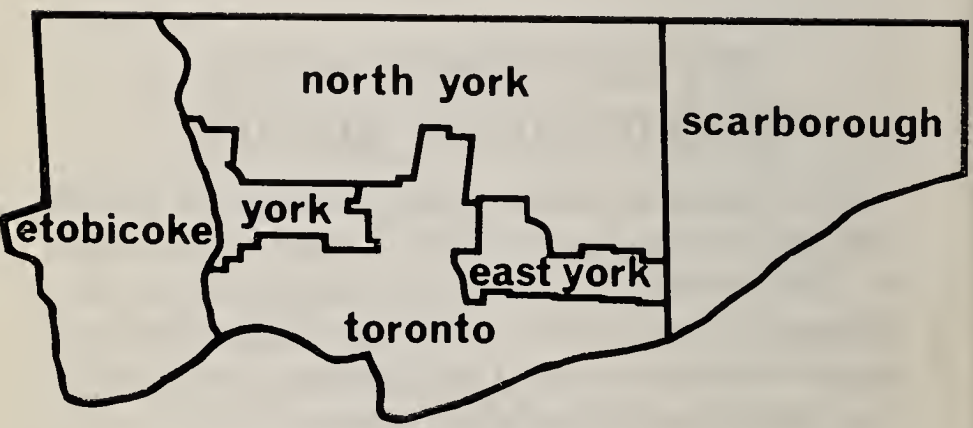
In accordance with legislation, a Housing Standards Appeal Committee has been established to consider appeals from individuals against orders of non-compliance.

The Housing Standards Division of the Buildings Department is responsible for the enforcement of the Housing Standards By-law and the City Clerk is Secretary of the Housing Standards Appeal Committee.

Metropolitan Government



On January 1, 1967, a new Metro was created by consolidating 13 former municipalities into 6 new ones, and by changing the constitution of the Metropolitan Council to provide representation on the basis of population (former municipalities shown in brackets):

Municipality	Square Miles	Population Persons	%	Members on Council
Toronto	37.7	685,313	36.30	12
North York	68.1	416,444	22.06	6
Scarborough	70.0	277,946	14.72	5
Etobicoke	47.9	267,720	14.18	4
York	9.0	141,562	7.50	3
East York	8.3	98,813	5.24	2
Metropolitan Toronto	241.0	1,887,798	100.00	32

(Population figures from Assessment Department returns)

Members take their seats on Metropolitan Council by virtue of their election to their respective municipal councils. The Council elects one of its own members or any other person as its Chairman. The Chairman and all members serve for a term of three years.

The policy-recommending body of Council is its Executive Committee which consists of the Metropolitan Chairman, the six local municipal mayors, and two senior controllers and two aldermen of the City of Toronto Council.

HISTORIC TORONTO

THE FRENCH PERIOD

The history of Toronto dates back almost three hundred years when the present site, long before the arrival of the white race, was the southern end of the most important of the Indian trails connecting Lake Huron and Lake Ontario. During the 16th and 17th centuries, this site was called "The Toronto Carrying Place". The trail ran from the mouth of the Humber River to the Holland River, thence by water to Lake Huron. A monument and plaque marking the Indian trail was erected at the corner of Weston Road and Clouston Road, Mount Dennis, on May 8, 1948, by the York Pioneer and Historical Society and the Toronto and York Roads Commission. To that intrepid explorer, LaSalle, must go the credit in large measure for making famous The Carrying Place. While his exploits are almost forgotten in the Province of Ontario which knew him so well in those early days, his name is held in reverence elsewhere across Canada, even to the Rocky Mountains. At that time, what is now the Province of Ontario was covered with dense hardwood forests penetrated only in a few directions by means of Indian trails. The name "Toronto" is of Huron Indian origin, signifying either " a place of meeting" or "plenty". At first, the name "Toronto" applied to the area surrounding the northern end of the trail at Lake Simcoe, but in later years, the name became associated with the southern end of the trail on Lake Ontario. In those early days there was great rivalry between the French and English fur traders for control of the lucrative business in furs. The French had a fortified trading post at Niagara, and the English built one at Oswego further to the east on the south side of Lake Ontario, in an effort to divert the trade in furs from the French. To counteract this loss in trade, the French established a fortified trading post in 1750 at a site which is now at the foot of Dufferin Street. This post was built by the order of the Governor of New France, Le Marquis de la Jonquière, and was named Fort Rouillé after the Colonial Minister of that time, but was generally called Fort Toronto. There had been temporary trading posts in the vicinity of the Humber River from as early as 1678.

During the Seven Years' War on this continent between the British and French nations, for colonial empire, Fort Rouillé was burned in 1759 in order to prevent English occupation, the French garrison withdrawing to Montreal. Fort Niagara at that time, was being besieged by British Forces and soon fell.

By the Treaty of Paris in 1763, France surrendered to Great Britain all claims to territory east of the Mississippi. Great Britain, by this time, had eliminated all foreign claimants to the region east of the Mississippi and from Hudson Bay to the Gulf of Mexico.

THE BRITISH PERIOD

The Toronto Purchase 1788

As part of a plan for the re-opening of the route between Lake Ontario and Lake Huron, and for the control of the rich fur trade, Sir Guy Carleton, 1st Baron Dorchester, during his second appointment as Governor-in-Chief of Canada, 1786-1796, arranged in 1788 for a conference to be held between representatives of the Government and the Chiefs of the Mississauga Indians, to negotiate for the purchase of the lands on which the city is now situated. Part of the price paid to the Indians was 149 barrels of goods, blankets, bolts of cloth, axes and a wealth of articles dear to the hearts of the Indians.

Town Planning

It had been previously decided by the British Government to establish a town at Toronto. In 1788, on orders from Lord Dorchester, a site was surveyed by Alexander Aitken.

Later in the same year Captain Gother Mann, commanding the Royal Engineers in Canada, made similar investigations. Nothing resulted from these activities and plans at the time. Captain Mann had completed a survey and laid out a town of considerable size on the very same site where now stands Toronto. His survey took in the whole territory surrounded by High Park, Broadview Avenue and Bloor Street. The residential area laid out consisted of 43 blocks, divided by streets laid out at right angles to each other. The military buildings were to stand in a great square, right in the centre of the area surveyed. This square today would comprise all the lands in Toronto south of College Street to the Bay, between Dufferin Street and Parliament Street. Captain Gother Mann gave the name of "Torento" to his proposed town, and it was under that name that the plan of the town including a full set of particulars, was forwarded to England with the Colonial Correspondence in the year 1790.

The Province of Upper Canada

By the Constitutional Act, 1791, Quebec was divided into two separate provinces, Lower Canada and Upper Canada. The Province of Upper Canada comprising all lands west of the Ottawa River, was constituted to meet the needs of some six thousand settlers mostly parties of veterans of American birth, who had fought on the side of the British against the Revolution, in the Queen's Rangers, Butler's Rangers or other regular or irregular troops. These settlers were of English speech, unfamiliar with the French Civil Law as exercised in Quebec. By the Constitutional Act, these settlers living west of the Ottawa River were given the right to establish a government of their own, with an elective legislature patterned on the constitution of Great Britain. The King sent out a Lieutenant-Governor, a Chief Justice, an Attorney-General and other officials to organize the new government.

Lieutenant-Colonel John Graves Simcoe, who had commanded the Queen's Rangers against the American revolutionists and had returned to England in retirement to his rural estate in Devonshire, was chosen by the King in 1791 as the first Lieutenant-Governor of the newly created Province of Upper Canada.

Simcoe set sail for Canada on September 26, 1791, and landed at Quebec. The next year he proceeded by batteaux to Kingston, arriving there July 1, 1792. He issued the writs for the election of the new government of Upper Canada the same month, after which he moved to Niagara, later to be renamed Newark, where the Provisional Capital of Upper Canada was established. The first meeting of the legislature for Upper Canada was held at Newark on September 17, 1792; it numbered 23 members in all, seven councillors and sixteen elected members.

Governor John Graves Simcoe favoured laying out the new capital of the Province of Upper

Toronto

The founding of Toronto

Canada on the site of the present City of London, it being his opinion that the frontier of an enemy state was an unsuitable place for a capital. As a temporary arrangement, however, he decided to establish the seat of Government on the north shore of Lake Ontario where now stands the City of Toronto. This, because of its strategic location and easily defended natural harbour, he had selected as a site for an arsenal. Governor Simcoe had had his first glimpse of Toronto on May 2, 1793, when accompanied by his officers, he was rowed from Newark around the head of Lake Ontario in batteaux.

On July 20, 1793, Governor Simcoe sent a hundred men of the Queen's Rangers, a new corps with the old name, who crossed the Lake from Newark. This corps landed somewhere near the foot of Bathurst Street, and commenced the work of laying out the site for the new town. Governor Simcoe officially arrived in Toronto Bay on July 30, 1793, which is the date observed as Founder's Day by the citizens of Toronto, especially those of United Empire Loyalist descent.

The Town of York

Governor Simcoe, on August 26, 1793, changed the name of Toronto to York in honour of the Duke of York, son of the then King George III, a salute being fired at noon the next day in celebration of the change.

York, in 1793, consisted only of the military works; it was not until the next year, 1794, that the erection of buildings was commenced to house the various officials.

The Legislative Assembly continued to meet at Newark until 1796. In that year Governor Simcoe issued instruction for the erection of the Legislative Buildings at York. These were commenced in July, 1796. The first session of the second Legislature of Upper Canada was held in York beginning June 1, 1797, but in temporary quarters, the new buildings being unfinished.

Because of ill health, Lieutenant-Governor Simcoe was granted leave of absence and set out for England on July 9, 1796, never to return. In the same year he was promoted to the local rank of Lieutenant-General which was later confirmed in the Army. In 1806 he was appointed to succeed General Lake as Commander-in-Chief and Governor of India. While he was making preparations to go to India, the British Government, alarmed at the threat of Napoleon to Portugal, decided to send Simcoe with an Army to Tagus to join the British Navy there. On the voyage out he was taken ill and had to return. He died at Exeter on October 26, 1806, and was buried at the family seat, Wolford Lodge, Devon, England.

War with the United States

During the War of 1812-14 the town of York was occupied by the United States Forces in 1813 at which time the Legislative Assembly Buildings and Archives were burned; and the Mace, emblem of sovereignty and authority for many centuries in the British Empire, was carried away. In reprisal for the burning and plundering of the Town of York, the British forces captured Washington, and burned all its public buildings. It is said that before setting fire to the President's Mansion, a regiment of Scottish soldiers devoured a fine dinner prepared for the President, then they burned as much of the house as possible, leaving only an outer shell. The President's Mansion was restored afterwards and is now called the White House, for the reason that it had to be covered with many coats of white paint to conceal the marks of its severe burning. In 1934, during Toronto's Centennial Celebrations, the Mace was returned to the Ontario Government through the good offices of the late President of the United States, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, as a gesture of international goodwill.

This historic Mace now alternates between the Royal Ontario Museum on Bloor Street West and Fort York, Fleet Street at Strachan Avenue, where it is on display during the open season. The City of Toronto, 1834

In 1834, the population having increased to over 9,000, the Government of the Province of Upper Canada passed an Act, dated March 6, 1834, to extend the limits of the Town of York and to incorporate the said Town into a City, under the name of the City of Toronto.

The preamble of the Bill declared:

Whereas, from the rapid increase of the population, commerce and wealth of the Town of York, a more efficient system of police and municipal government than now established, has become obviously necessary; and

Whereas, none appears so likely to attain effectually the objects desired, as the erection thereof into a City, and the incorporation of the inhabitants, and vesting in them the power to elect a Mayor, Aldermen and Common Councilmen and other officers, for the management of the affairs of the said City and the levying of such moderate taxes, as may be necessary for improvements and other public purposes; and

Whereas, the name of York is common to so many towns and places that it is desirable for avoiding inconvenience and confusion, to designate the Capital of the Province by a name which will better distinguish it, and none appears more eligible than that by which the site of the present town was known before the name of York was assigned to it:

"Therefore, His Majesty, by and with the advice, etc., etc."

The first municipal elections in the City of Toronto were held on Thursday, March 27, 1834. At this time all voting was by open vote.

It is of interest to note that voting by ballot was introduced first in Toronto municipal elections on January 1, 1867. At Federal elections, however, the system of open voting continued until 1874. All male householders had the franchise, whether owners or tenants. The City was divided into five wards: St. Andrew, St. David, St. George, St. Lawrence, and St. Patrick, and, in each, two aldermen and two councilmen were elected. The mayor was chosen, by council, from among the aldermen.

Toronto's First Mayor

William Lyon Mackenzie, the grandfather on his mother's side of the former Prime Minister of Canada, William Lyon Mackenzie King, was chosen by his fellow members of Council, as the first Mayor of the City of Toronto, in the year 1834. Mackenzie moved to York in 1824 and was elected a member of Parliament in 1828. He was founder and editor of a newspaper, the Colonial Advocate, in which he denounced the government in no uncertain terms for mismanagement and corruption caused by nepotism in its appointments to office. It is interesting to note that following the rebellion of 1837, William Lyon Mackenzie fled into exile to New York State. His youngest daughter, who afterwards became the mother of the former Prime Minister of Canada, the Right Honourable W. L. Mackenzie King, was born there.

The home of the first Mayor, located at 82 Bond Street, is maintained as a historic site.

TORONTO PORTRAITS

Toronto has grown from a fledgling municipality of five wards and a population of 9254 in 1834 to its present status of nine wards and a population of almost 700,000. A thirty year period of annexations of bordering municipalities, beginning in 1883, brought about the greatest area growth, the City more than doubling in area, while the population increased almost fivefold from 86,585 in 1882 to 410,036 in 1912. A period of fifty-five years elapsed from the time of annexation of North Toronto before the boundaries of the City underwent any major changes, though additions and adjustments have been continuously adding to area and population. January 1st 1967 saw the Villages of Forest Hill and Swansea come within the limits of the City, added to existing wards. This change was effected by Provincial Legislation which re-shaped the Metropolitan Municipal structure from thirteen municipalities to six.

Municipalities annexed or added to Toronto are:

Village of Yorkville	1883
Village of Brockton	1884
Town of Parkdale	1889
Town of East Toronto	1908
City of West Toronto	1909
Town of North Toronto	1912
Village of Forest Hill	1967
Village of Swansea	1967

The Opening of Yonge Street, from a point about three miles north of the waterfront to Holland Landing, was one of the notable achievements of Governor Simcoe. The work of clearing, carried out by the soldiers of the York Garrison, was commenced on December 28, 1795, and occupied most of the winter. It was named after Sir George Yonge, Secretary of State for War of Great Britain.

A public notice appeared in the Upper Canada Gazette of March 27, 1801, giving notice of the proposal to complete that part of Yonge Street between the Town of York and the three mile post. The work was completed in 1802, and paid for by public subscription. Yonge Street, south of Lot Street (Queen), was not opened as a public thoroughfare until 1820. York then comprised only twelve blocks immediately north of the Parliament Buildings, which were situated close to the waterfront at the foot of what is now Berkeley Street.

Governor Simcoe saw the urgent need for the opening of roads for the future economic development of the Province of Upper Canada, as well as from a military standpoint. Under his direction a party of the Queen's Rangers from the Garrison of Fort York also commenced the opening of a road from the head of Lake Ontario to the River Thames. It was named Dundas Street in honour of the Secretary to the Colonies, Henry Dundas, first Viscount Melville.

The first extensive industry was established in Toronto in 1812 when Jesse Ketchum started the business of tanning hides at what is now the southwest corner of Yonge and Adelaide Streets. At that time, in the Town of York, there was a blacksmith, a wainwright, a candlemaker, a clock maker, a hat maker and a cobbler.

Toronto's first street lighting system was placed in service during the year 1842, the illuminant being gas; at that time Toronto was one of eleven cities on the North American Continent to have a street lighting system. Electric arc lights made their appearance in 1884. Today, there are approximately 45,000 street lights in the City of Toronto. Toronto is considered to be one of the most modern-lighted cities of its size on this continent.

The first local public transportation service was operated by a cabinet maker by the name of Williams, who in 1849, inaugurated an omnibus service from St. Lawrence Market to Yorkville near Bloor Street, by way of King and Yonge Streets. In 1861 a franchise was given the Toronto Street Railway Company for the operation of rail transportation with horse-drawn street cars to operate at not more than thirty-minute intervals, and at a speed of six miles per hour. The first street railway in Canada was operated on Yonge Street on September 11, 1861.

In May, 1842, just eight years after incorporation as a City, Charles Dickens wrote this most illuminating description of Toronto: "The town itself is full of life and motion, bustle, business and improvement. The streets are well paved and lighted with gas; the houses are large and good; the shops excellent, many of them having a display of goods in their windows such as may be seen in thriving towns in England, and some which would do no discredit to the metropolis itself. There is a good stone prison here, and there are, besides, a handsome church, court house, public offices, many commodious private residences, and a Government observatory for noting and recording the magnetic variations."

The discovery of insulin, one of the most accurately planned scientific developments that the world has ever known, was made at the physiology laboratories of the University of Toronto in the year 1921, by the late Sir Frederick Banting, Dr. Charles H. Best and Dr. J. B. Collip, working under Professor J. J. R. McLeod. The Nobel Prize for the discovery of insulin was awarded to Doctors Banting and Best, who in turn, divided the gratuities attached thereto with Doctors Collip and McLeod. The prolongation of life made possible by the discovery of Insulin has made Toronto a name revered by all those who have suffered with Diabetes and the mecca for scientists interested in the study of such an important disease.

The Invention of Standard Time by Sandford Fleming, in 1879, was one of the notable achievements of a citizen of Toronto in the earlier days. After Mr. Fleming had read a paper on his invention before the Canadian Institute in February, 1879, the Marquis of Lorne, then Governor-General of Canada, sent out copies of the addresses to all Governments. The Czar of Russia called an International Time Convention which met in Rome in 1882. This meeting was adjourned and met at Washington, D.C., in 1883. At the Washington Conference, Standard Time was adopted by most countries of the world, the system going into effect on November 18, 1883. Toronto's clocks were advanced 17 minutes to bring them into line with the 75th meridian. Mr. Fleming had, in 1851, the distinction of designing in Toronto the first postage stamp used for Canada.

Mr. Sandford Fleming was knighted by the late Queen Victoria, in recognition of the importance of his invention.

First Municipal Offices were located in the upper portion of the new Market building erected by the Town of York in 1883 on the south side of King Street, between Jarvis and Market Streets. Here the first City Council meeting of the newly created City of Toronto was held in 1834. This building was demolished following severe damage suffered during the Great Fire in April of 1849.

First City Hall was erected in 1844 on the south side of Front Street between Jarvis and Market Streets. What remains of it forms part of the south section of St. Lawrence Market. It was designed by Henry Bowyer Lane, who also designed an addition to Osgoode Hall and three churches, Trinity 1843; St. George 1844; and Holy Trinity 1847.

Second City Hall stands on a large parcel of land encompassed by James Street, Bay Street, Queen Street and Albert Street. The building was originally intended for a Court House only but it was subsequently decided to erect a combined City Hall and Court House.

Some interesting facts about the Second City Hall are:

Cornerstone Laid—November 21st, 1891
Opened—September 18th, 1899
Cost (including furnishings, bells, site and clock)—$2,500,000
Tower Height—300 feet from sidewalk
Weight of Bells, Total—Approx. 8½ tons
Quarter Bell—1,904 lbs.
Half Bell—3,339 lbs.
Hour Bell—11,648 lbs.
Bells Rung first time—December 31st, 1900
Clock Face Diameter—20 feet
Floor Space—5.4 acres

The architect was E. J. Lennox, who left his name, profession and the date to posterity by having them carved on stones beneath the eaves on all four sides of the building.

A dominant feature of the Queen Street entrance to the Second City Hall is the Great Stained Glass Window, depicting "The Union of Commerce and Industry". The window measures 16 x 23 feet and was designed by Robert McCausland of Toronto and created under his personal supervision in his studios in 1899.

Toronto Cenotaph, inscribed with majestic simplicity: "To Our Glorious Dead", stands on a wide stone approach in front of the Second City Hall — a symbol of Toronto's sacrifice. The Cenotaph, "dedicated by the citizens of Toronto to the undying memory of those who fell in the Great War 1914-1918", was designed after the style of the great Cenotaph in London and cut, fittingly enough in granite from the heart of Canada — the "Canadian Shield" of the geologists. Its erection is noted by a stone tablet bearing the inscription: "This stone was laid on June 25th, 1925, by Field Marshal the Earl Haig, Commander-in-Chief of the British Forces in the Great War. Thomas Foster, Mayor".

On its sides appear the names of nine of the many historic engagements in which Toronto men played a valiant part — Ypres, Somme, Mount Sorrell, Vimy, Passchendaele, Amiens, Arras, Cambrai, Zeebrugge.

The Golden Book of Remembrance, which previously was an integral part of a Memorial, erected by the City, on the landing of the main stairway of the Second City Hall, now has an honoured place in the Hall of Memory in the New City Hall. The Book, which was unveiled by Robert H. Saunders, C.B.E., K.C., a former Mayor of the City, on December 28, 1947, contains the following inscription: "This Golden Book of Remembrance is dedicated to the glory of God and in loving memory of Toronto's sons and daughters, who gave their lives in the cause of Freedom, during the War, 1939-1945. Herein are inscribed their names." It contains some 3,500 names. The following inscription is on the two front pages of the Golden Book of Remembrance:

"They are not dead, for to live in hearts one leaves behind is not to die."

"They shall grow not old as we that are left grow old."

"Age shall not weary them, nor the years condemn."

"At the going down of the sun and in the morning we will remember them."

MAYOR'S CHAIN OF OFFICE

Presented to the City of Toronto on March 6, 1950, by the representatives of nineteen Toronto business firms who have successfully survived more than one hundred years of competition and are still active and vigorous in business and in industry in the City of Toronto. In presenting the Chain of Office the representatives of the business firms requested that it be worn by the Mayor, for the time being, on all occasions in which he appears in his official capacity, as a mark of their pride in the City in which they live and in recognition of the great responsibilities and great dignity which are attached to the office of Chief Magistrate of the City of Toronto.
